Uppsala University has status as observer organization and will be sending a delegation to the conference. We are now calling upon engaged and motivated students in Uppsala to apply to join the delegation as Uppsala University's representatives at the negotiations. Take advantage of this unique opportunity to take part in a process that is of paramount importance to the future of humanity and life on our planet.

Apply by providing a brief personal statement (no more than 2 pages) that addresses the following questions:

- Who are you? Tell us about yourself and your background.
- What are your intellectual and academic interests at the moment?
- Are you involved in any activities/initiatives that have a connection to climate change issues?
- Why do you want to go to COP23 in Bonn?
- How does participating in COP23 fit in with your professional interests and trajectory in life?
- How would you propose to connect and feed-back to others at Uppsala University and in Uppsala that are interested in climate change and the negotiations, but not able to join the delegation?

Please also include the following information in your application: complete name, date of birth, Swedish permanent or temporary personal number, nationality, passport number & country of issue, dates which you are able to attend the conference (week 1, week 2, or both) and email address. Send your personal statement, along with your transcript of records (showing which courses you have been enrolled in and passed) to: jesse.schrage@csduppsala.uu.se

Would you have any questions about this, we will have a Q&A session on 12th September at 18.15 at CEMUS library, Geocentrum, Villavägen 16, 75236 Uppsala. This will also be an opportunity to meet others involved in climate change in and around Uppsala. All Welcome !

In order to be considered to join the student delegation, you will need to be enrolled at Uppsala University as a student. In forming our delegation, we are looking to create a highly motivated, interdisciplinary team of students. Note that a selection to join the delegation does not entail funding for travel, food or housing. If you are selected and accept, you will need to commit to:

- participating in weekly preparatory meetings during the fall semester leading up to Bonn with the rest of the student delegation;
- actively participating in at least one of the two weeks of COP23 (6-10th November and/or 13-17 November);
- being involved in organizing and contributing to events in Uppsala before, during and after the negotiations in November.
